Scheuring speed sports starts season with a bang

D.J. Eckstrom and Shaun Crapo win the two X Game Qualifiers on Friday, D.J. podiums in Pro Stock and finishes fourth in Pro Open

The weekend started Friday when the top drivers in the world started competing for ESPN X Games spots through a series of qualifying rounds and a final. D.J. won all three of his qualifying rounds and Shaun took a first, a second, and a third in his rounds. In the first of the two finals D.J. took the lead on lap one and never looked back taking the victory. In the second final the same held for Shaun as he finished first in his qualifier also.

Pro Stock

Both drivers qualified on the front row for the main event. When the flag dropped D.J. and Shaun got tangled up in a mess in the first corner. D.J. went from a ten second deficit to less than 2 seconds when the checkered flag dropped. D.J. ended up second. Shaun Crapo was running fifth until a last lap off that put him back in the pack.

Pro Open

Once again both drivers were on the line for the main event. D.J. started the race running second and stayed that way for most of the race. Towards the end of the race lapped traffic played a factor and D.J. slipped to fourth place. Meanwhile Shaun was stuck in traffic in mid pack on a race track that could only be described as pure hell.

The weekend was a great start to the season as both the drivers and equipment never missed a beat. Watch for us at the front of the pack all season
